

What is ISO55001 Framework?

In simple terms

the ISO55001 framework helps leaders in an organisation to make informed decisions about their property assets. The framework helps in assessing whether to buy assets or build new assets, what level of maintenance will be required for those assets and how those assets will be maintained based on the objectives of the business.

A complete approach

To best understand if the decisions that are being made and the way assets are being managed are providing the maximum value, an assessment against the framework is carried out. Workshops with the leadership team, with the maintenance delivery team, the projects team and the business planning team help to educate property owners about the framework.

Benefits of ISO55001

A scalable framework that helps to manage assets successfully to support business growth, reduce and limit asset risks for property owners and increase the profitability of the organisation.
